

The Polis Institute based in Jerusalem, in cooperation with the Institute for Latin Studies (also known as 'Graduate Certificate in Latin Studies') at the University of Kentucky are please to announce two introductory seminars in Classical Greek as a spoken language.

Where?

On the campus of the University of Kentucky in Lexington

When?

12 July – 31 July, 2016

Seminars

Greek Level I

Greek Level II

Instructors

Stephen Hill (University of Kentucky) Greek Level I

Christophe Rico (Polis Institute) Greek Level II

Course fees

The enrollment fee for each course is $785. This does not include the cost of transportation to the University of Kentucky, or the costs of lodging or meals. Participants in the course can stay in new and well-equipped student housing on the campus for as little as $38 per night in a shared suite with another student. Daily meals can be had at a wide variety of eating establishments within walking distance of student housing.

Applications

All applicants will be notified about their places in the courses no later than 1 June, 2016. Those who wish to enroll in Greek Level I should buy the book Polis Speaking Ancient Greek on Amazon before the beginning of the course. Applications are now being accepted, and anyone wishing to apply for a place in either Greek Level I or Greek Level II should contact Professor Terence Tunberg by email for further information:

terence.tunberg@gmail.com