A survey of the history of Egypt, Western Asia, and Greece from the beginnings of civilization around 3000 B.C. to the death of Alexander the Great in 323 B.C. Through lectures and readings the class will examine the cultures of these regions, how each developed, and the ways they interacted with each other and influenced their neighbors. UKCore: INQUIRY: HUMANITIES REQUIREMENT and A&S HUMANITIES REQUIREMENT

CLA 251 INTERMEDIATE GREEK - PART I MTWR 2:00-2:50
CALDESI VALERI (vcaldesiv@uky.edu)
This course reviews and completes the fundamentals of the ancient Greek language while introducing students to readings in the original texts. Selections from a wide range of authors will be included in order to illustrate the diversity and appeal of Greek literature. Emphasis is placed on developing reading ability. Prereq: CLA 152 or equivalent. UNIVERSITY AND COLLEGE LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

CLA 301 LATIN LITERATURE I MWF 3:00-3:50
J. TUNBERG (jennifer.tunberg@uky.edu)
In CLA 301, we shall read letters by such authors as Pliny, Seneca and Erasmus. The letters will not only acquaint us with the thoughts and feelings of the writers but will also offer us a fascinating glimpse into the times in which they lived. And the Latin prose in which the letters are written is truly a joy to read!

CLA/A-H 314 ANCIENT ART: ROMAN ARTS OF EMPIRE MWF 10:00–10:50
CHRIST (Alice.Christ@uky.edu)
Learn to recognize and interpret major monuments of public art and architecture in the Roman Empire from the late republic through the time of Constantine. These monuments remained models for many a later empire, yet in their own time they expressed political, social and religious values that can seem radically strange now. You will be able to identify and discuss typical Roman Imperial iconographies, using proper technical vocabulary and understand the relationship of these to Roman social, political and cultural values and their roles in the ideological programs of particular emperors.

CLA 331 GENDER & SEXUALITY IN ANTIQUITY TR 12:30-1:45 MURRAY (jackie.murray@uky.edu)
This course examines how gender, sexuality, and the social institutions and patterns connected with these operated in ancient Greece and Rome. Essential is the concept of the social construction of gender and sexuality, i.e., that far from being set in biological concrete, different societies have understood, organized, deployed, and exploited gender and sexuality in radically different ways. In this way, classical antiquity can serve as a basis for both understanding and critiquing our own society, and it is a fundamental aim of this course to engage the student's own thought, criticism, judgment, and actively construct knowledge from the sources and scholarly interpretive frameworks. A&S HUMANITIES REQUIREMENTS

CLA/HIS 390-401 BACKGROUNDS TO & EARLY HISTORY OF CHRISTIANITY TO 150 CE W 4:00-6:30 PM HOLLE (bholi2@uky.edu)
This course will investigate the historical and cultural background to the rise of Christianity. Readings and discussion will center on the Greek, Roman and Hebrew contributions to early Christianity. A&S HUMANITIES REQUIREMENTS

CLA 395 INDEPENDENT STUDY (1-3 credits)
Independent study with individual faculty member. To take this course, students must consult with and be approved by the Undergraduate Classics Adviser.

CLA 501 LATIN COMPOSITION TR 9:30-10:45 MINKOVA (mmmink2@uky.edu)
The course is designed for students with a good command of Latin morphology and basic knowledge of Latin syntax. The participants will deepen their knowledge of Latin syntax, internalize the principles of Latin grammar and usage, and develop a sensitivity to prose style. The course will involve readings from Latin authors from all periods, and exercises in Latin prose composition. It will foster familiarization with the language through exercises that will go beyond simple translation from English. Prereq: Proficiency in Latin above the 300 level.

CLA 555 GREEK PROSE: GREEK COMPOSITION TR 4:00-5:15
MURRAY (jackie.murray@uky.edu)
The course is intended for students who wish to improve their command of Greek vocabulary, morphology and syntax, and aims to offer a solid foundation in the language enabling them to take with confidence and competence advanced seminars in ancient Greek prose and poetry. The course will entail exercises in both traditional and creative composition along with readings from prose authors meant to familiarize students with a variety of prose styles.

MCL 591 - 003 (Language Practicum: Intensive Latin) MWF 1:00 - 1:50 p.m. T. TUNBERG (clatot@uky.edu)
This course devoted to Latin as a spoken language. It is designed for students who have covered the basic structures of Latin and can read unadapted texts of average complexity - even if having frequent recourse to dictionaries and other aids. MCL 591 -003 is entirely and exclusively aimed at helping the participants to develop ability in ex-tempore oral expression in issues. There will be much attention to building vocabulary and repertoire of idiomatic expressions. While there will be some written assignments, and some required reading of Latin texts, the main emphasis of the course will be on the production of oral presentations throughout the term.
